UPDATE NAEGLERIA FOWLERI INFECTION NOT LOCATED IN CITY OF WESTON

Weston, FL – August 12, 2016, 5:15 p.m. –

After further consultation with the Florida Department of Health, City officials have been advised that the unfortunate contraction of Naegleria fowleri did NOT take place within the City of Weston.

The Health Department advised they believe that the individual contracted the infection after swimming in unsanitary water on a single private property, not accessible by the public. Health officials continue to investigate the location and have notified all persons with risk of exposure. No additional cases have been identified.
